MOL's Pattern of Shipping Act Violations

- 151. MOL was engaged in a pattern of Shipping Act violations during the course of this Proceeding. See Compromise Agreement between MOL and the Federal Maritime Commission, dated February 18, 2011, Supplement Appendix, ("Supp. App.") 577-579.
- 152. Included among MOL's Shipping Act violations was providing service in the liner trade that was not in accordance with the rates, charges, classifications, rules, and practices set forth in MOL's published tariffs or applicable service contracts. Supp. App. 577.
- 153. MOL paid the Commission $1.2 million for these violations. Supp. App at 578, ¶ 1.
- 154. The payment covered practices that persisted over a period of several years and involved numerous service contracts. See CJR App. at 081.
- 155. Peter King, Director of the Commission's Bureau of Enforcement ("BOE"), stated that BOE "became convinced that MOL knew about some of the abuses it uncovered by non-vessel-operating common carriers or shippers." CJR App. at 081.

Title of Rebecca Yang

156. Rebecca Yang was a sales representative who subsequently was promoted to Regional Sales Manager for MOL. Yang Dep. at 56, line 3-11, Supp. App. 582.

Neither Paul McClintock Nor Rebecca Yang Were Working on Commission

157. Paul McClintock and Rebecca Yang were not working on commission. McClintock Dep. at 52, line 10-16, Supp. App. 589.

Global Link Provided A Substantial Benefit to MOL

158. Global Link was one of MOL's largest customers for a substantial period of time. See Yang Tr. at 17, line 4-6 (they were an important customer, "their buying was really huge") Supp.

App 581; they shipped between 20,000-40,000 twenty foot equivalent containers (TEUs) per year. McClintock Dep. at 216, line 18-21, Supp. App. 595.

159. Global Link provided a substantial benefit to MOL by providing MOL the flexibility to use Global Link's cargo wherever needed to increase MOL's vessel and equipment utilization and enable MOL to achieve the most profitable mix of cargo on any given vessel. McClintock Dep. at 43-46, Supp. App. 585-88. As a result, Global Link's value to MOL went way beyond the value of its own cargo from a yield perspective. ("It wasn't the highest-paying cargo, so from a yield perspective, it wasn't that — it wasn't that great." McClintock Dep. at 44, line 2-3, Supp. App. 586.

160. Global Link enabled MOL to make more money on its other cargo ("It was – it went beyond just what the dollars and cents were …" McClintock Dep. at 45, line 10-11, Supp. App. 587. Paul McClintock explained this value of Global Link's cargo in detail in his deposition testimony:

- A. Yes, I'd say yes, but because Global Link was a large account, it was a very large account, she -- I mean, she could only follow the direction of the company, basically, as far as managing that customer. It was just -- it was a big, complex account and complex relationship, for sure.
- Q. When you say complex relationship, what do you mean by that?
- A. Well, Global Link was a little bit -- was different in one regard, and that is they -- as a company, MOL used their business a lot to fill in the gaps as far as vessels. It wasn't the highest-paying cargo, so from a yield perspective, it wasn't that -- it wasn't that great.

But what was positive about the account and the reason the company went after it and wanted it was one of the big benefits of the account was they allowed us to roll their containers out. So if you think about a ship coming in, it's no different than an airline. If it sails at 90 percent, you can never make up that ten percent.

So we had always tried to get certain customers that would allow us, especially during busy season, which some years was all year and other years was just during the summer months, we always tried to get certain customers that would allow us to book slugs of business, 100 containers on a particular ship or 200 or whatever, and then when the ship closes out, all of sudden, there's better freight, better opportunities.

Global Link was one of the accounts that we would then say, sorry, you're not getting a -- you're not getting a pass on the ship, and we would roll their cargo and shut it out and use that cargo to top off a ship, or we might take that cargo and discharge it. It may load in Shanghai, and the ship gets to Tokyo, and all of a sudden, we might have a big booking of business from Japan that pays better, and we would take the Global Link cargo, take it off the ship, park it on the dock, delay it a week, and then maybe pick it up the following week or maybe roll it another week.

That's what I mean complex. It was -- it went beyond just what the dollars and cents were, because we were able to manipulate that cargo and roll it and top off our vessels, which, of course, improved our utilization.

And if you think about a steamship line, the biggest expenses we had were the fixed expenses. I mean, it was just a fixed line of vessels and ships and admin, and once you get to a certain point making money, and one of the key ways to make some money is to make sure you fill those ships.

Well, when -- especially when space is tight, typically, customers are making phantom bookings. So Home Depot may call and book 200 containers, and Wal-Mart might call and book 400 containers, and then when the time comes for the ship to sail, you think you're 120 percent of capacity, and when it settles out, you're 80 percent.

So you need the buffer cargo that you can ebb and flow and roll, and most customers won't allow you to do that, they won't put up with that, you know, you can't roll my cargo, so to speak. So we did that with Global Link.

Id. at 43-36. GLL Supp. App 585-588.

Trucking Expenses Were Pass Through Costs for MOL

- 161. Trucking expenses were merely pass through costs for MOL. McClintock Dep. at 65 (line 15-18), 92 (line 8-12), 264 (line 15-22), Supp. App. 590, 594, 596.
- 162. The trucking rates are rolled into the equation for MOL's pricing. McClintock Dep. at 92, line 10-12, Supp. App. 594. Thus, split routing did not cost MOL any money. Id. at 267, line 10-12, Supp. App. 599.

- 163. Regardless of where containers went, Global Link was paying the amount of transportation cost and MOL was being reimbursed for the amount of transportation costs in the full all-in rate. Id. at 291, line 9-15, Supp. App. 600.
- 164. The rates to Johnson City and Braselton should be comparable if they originate at the same container yard and are delivered to the same container yard, because the rates are based upon the container yard rates; MOL is not making money on the inland portion of the move. Id. at 294-296. The net result to MOL was the same as if it had simply negotiated a new door rate in the service contract. Id. at 294-95, Supp. App. 602-03.
- 165. If MOL had refused to lower its rates, Global Link would have taken its business to a different steamship line. McClintock Dep. at 90-91, Supp. App 592-93.
- 166. It was only when MOL agreed to increase the amount it paid drivers to deliver the goods from Monroe, Louisiana to Winnsboro, Louisiana that Global Link dramatically increased its shipments with MOL to Winnsboro, Louisiana. Minck Dep. at ¶ 15, MOL App. 2081.

Edward Feitzinger's Testimony Is Not Based Upon His Personal Knowledge

167. Edward Feitzinger's testimony in regard to Paul McClintock benefting from split routing is not based upon personal knowledge. See MOL App. 1995-96. Feitzinger's testimony is that a person, whose name he does not recall, once suggested that Global Link helped make Paul McClintock a success in MOL. Id.

Spirit Trucker's Invoices

168. Jason Denton of Spirit Trucking testified as to invoices that Spirit Trucking submitted to MOL. He testified that those invoices reflected the location where goods were actually being delivered, rather than to a false, split routing destination.

- Q. So despite the fact of what it said on the ship line document, you billed them for where it was actually sent; is that correct?
- A. Yes.

Id. at 152-55, Supp. App. 607-08.

Whereas, the Commission is considering the institution of an assessment proceeding against Respondent for the recovery of civil penalties for alleged violations of sections 10(b)(1), 10(b)(2)(A), 10(b)(11), and 10(b)(12) of the Shipping Act of 1984 ("1984 Act"), 46 U.S.C. §§ 41104(1), 41104(2)(A), 41104(11), and 41104(12) as amended, as well as the Commission's regulations issued in connection therewith;

Whereas, this course of action is the result of practices alleged by the Commission to have been engaged in by Respondent, to wit:

MOL allowed persons to obtain transportation for property at less than the rates or charges established by MOL in its tariffs or service contracts by means of (a) permitting use of its service contracts by persons who are neither signatories nor affiliates to those contracts, (b) unlawful equipment substitution, and (c) misdescription of commodities.

MOL provided service in the liner trade that was not in accordance with the rates, charges, classifications, rules, and practices set forth in MOL's published tariffs or applicable service contracts.

MOL knowingly and willfully accepted cargo from or transported cargo for the account of ocean transportation intermediaries that did not have tariffs and bonds, insurance, or other surety as required by sections 8 and 19 of the 1984 Act.

MOL knowingly and willfully entered into service contracts with ocean transportation intermediates that did not have tariffs and bonds, insurance, or other surety as required by sections 8 and 19 of the 1984 Act.

Whereas, the Commission has anthonity under section 13(e) of the 1984 Act, 46 U.S.C. § 41109(a)-(b), and Part 502 of the Commission's regulations, 46 C.F.R. pt. 502, to compromise and collect civil penalties;

Whereas, Respondent has cooperated and disclosed information, facts and documents to the Commission with respect to Respondent's shipments and practices, including those with respect to the alleged practices set forth and described above; and

Whereas, Respondent has implemented steps to terminate any practices which are the basis of the alleged violations set forth herein, and has instituted and committed its willingness to maintain measures designed to prevent violations by Respondent, its officers, directors, and its employees located in the United States and abroad.

Now Therefore, in consideration of the premises herein, and in compromise of all civil penalties arising from the alleged violations set forth and described herein, Respondent and the Commission hereby agree upon the following terms of compromise:

- Respondent shall make monetary payment to the Commission by cashier's or certified check in the amount of $1,200,000.
 - Enforcement of the Commission, this instrument shall forever bar the commencement or institution of any assessment proceeding or other claim for recovery of civil penalties from the Respondent, and its officers, directors, or employees, arising from the alleged violations of sections 10(b)(1), 10(b)(2)(A), 10(b)(11), and 10(b)(12) of the 1984 Act that allegedly occurred on or before March 1, 2011 with respect to those service contracts and shipments identified by the Commission to the Respondent, as well as those service contracts and shipments and/or shipping practices and activities included in Respondent's disclosures to the Commission. To the extent these disclosures relate to ongoing or future investigative matters, all information and/or documentation comprising such disclosures shall constitute "investigative records" and "commercial or financial information obtained from a person" and shall remain confidential to the extent permitted by law.

- Respondent agrees to provide ongoing cooperation with respect to any investigative activity or enforcement action conducted by the Commission with regard to service contracts which have either been identified by the Commission to the Respondent, or which Respondent has disclosed to the Commission hereunder.
- It is expressly understood and agreed that this Compromise Agreement is not, and is not to be construed as, an admission by Respondent to the alleged violations set forth above.
- This agreement is subject to approval by the Commission's Managing Director in accordance with 46 C.F.R. § 502.604.

A No, because Jane Martin was my inside sales support for a long time, so she already knew how to handle stuff. So really, there was no training. There was just communication. You can call it that. Q Did Lauren Estrada ever work with you or fo you? A She was my inside sales person. Q Okay. When did she take on that position? A I can't remember. Q Was that maybe in 2006, 2007? A Possible. Job 1438

- 1 president/general manager of the South Atlantic and
- 2 Gulf and Mexico. I guess I was in that position
- 3 from '95, I don't know, to maybe 2007 or something
- 4 like that, or -6 or -7.
- 5 Then they changed the structure of the
- 6 company from geographic to functional, so my
- 7 functional -- my new functional position was vice
- 8 president of sales and sales support for the US, and
- 9 I had that position until I left in April of '09,
- 10 and now I work for South Carolina State Port
- 11 Authority.
- 12 Q So it's fair to say you've been in the
- 13 logistics industry, except for -- I don't know
- 14 whether the furniture, were you just -- was that
- 15 unrelated to logistics?
- 16 A That was logistics as well. I was doing a
- 17 lot of the transportation contracts and stuff.
- 18 O So for the last at least -- for almost 30
- 19 years, you've been --
- 20 A Yes, sir, yes, sir.
- 21 Q -- in the sales end of the logistics
- 22 industry?
- 23 A Yes, sir.

- 1 have been a sales rep who found out about the
- 2 account. And I don't remember the year that
- 3 happened.
- 4 O When did Rebecca Yang start at Mitsui?
- 5 A I don't recall, but my guess would be
- 6 sometime around 1993, perhaps.
- 7 O Would she have been the one who developed
- 8 the relationship, then, perhaps?
- 9 A Not necessarily.
- 10 Q Did she come to be a primary contact with
- 11 Global Link over time?
- 12 A Yes, I'd say yes, but because Global Link
- 13 was a large account, it was a very large account,
- 14 she -- I mean, she could only follow the direction
- 15 of the company, basically, as far as managing that
- 16 customer. It was just -- it was a big -- it was a
- 17 big, complex account and a complex relationship, for
- 18 sure.
- 19 Q When you say complex relationship, what do
- 20 you mean by that?
- 21 A Well, Global Link was a little bit -- was
- 22 different in one regard, and that is they -- as a
- 23 company, MOL used their business a lot to fill in

- 1 the gaps as far as vessels. It wasn't the
- 2 highest-paying cargo, so from a yield perspective,
- 3 it wasn't that -- it wasn't that great.
- 4 But what was positive about the account
- 5 and the reason the company went after it and wanted
- 6 it was one of the big benefits of the account was
- 7 they allowed us to roll their containers, to shut
- 8 their containers out. So if you think about a ship
- 9 coming in, it's no different than an airline. If it
- 10 sails at 90 percent, you can never make up that ten
- 11 percent.
- So we had always tried to get certain
- 13 customers that would allow us, especially during
- 14 busy season, which some years was all year and other
- 15 years was just during the summer months, we always
- 16 tried to get certain customers that would allow us
- 17 to book slugs of business, 100 containers on a
- 18 perticular ship or 200 or whatever, and then when
- 19 the ship closes out, all of a sudden, there's better
- 20 freight, better opportunities.
- 21 Global Link was one of the accounts that
- 22 we would then say, sorry, you're not getting a --
- 23 you're not getting a pass on the ship, and we would

- 1 roll their cargo and shut it out and use that cargo
- 2 to top off a ship, or we might take that cargo and
- 3 discharge it. It may load in Shanghai, and the ship
- 4 gets to Tokyo, and all of a sudden, we might have a
- 5 big booking of business from Japan that pays better,
- 6 and we would take the Global Link cargo, take it off
- 7 the ship, park it on the dock, delay it a week, and
- 8 then maybe pick it up the following week or maybe
- 9 roll it another week.
- 10 That's what I mean complex. It was -- it
- 11 went beyond just what the dollars and cents were,
- 12 because we were able to manipulate that cargo and
- 13 roll it and top off our vessels, which, of course,
- 14 improved our utilization.
- And if you think about a steamship line,
- 16 the biggest expenses we had were the fixed expenses.
- 17 I mean, it was just a fixed line of vessels and
- 18 ships and admin, and once you get to a certain point
- 19 in the ship, you know, you -- that's where you start
- 20 making money, and one of the key ways to make some
- 21 money is to make sure you fill those ships.
- Well, when -- especially when space is
- 23 tight, typically, customers are making phantom

- 1 bookings. So Home Depot may call and book 200
- 2 containers, and Wal-Mart might call and book 400
- 3 containers, and then when the time comes for the
- 4 ship to sail, you think you're 120 percent of
- 5 capacity, and when it settles out, you're
- 6 80 percent.
- 7 So you need the buffer cargo that you can
- 8 ebb and flow and roll, and most customers won't
- 9 allow you to do that, they won't put up with that,
- 10 you know, you can't roll my cargo, so to speak. So
- 11 we did that with Global Link.
- 12 Q And that made them a more valuable
- 13 customer in many ways?
- MR. LOH: Objection.
- THE WITNESS: Well, not necessarily, not
- 16 necessarily. That was part of their value, but
- that's just part of the value proposition.
- There's, you know, obviously other things that
- 19 would go into it, into the value of a customer,
- 20 but for sure, when we would sit down and
- 21 evaluate an account like Global Link and
- 22 whether to move forward with another contract
- or something like that, that would be a value

Hall of Fame Reporting 877-901-3376 - Schedule@HOFReporting.com

Page 52 whatever, she would simply -- she would simply take whatever it is Global Link wanted, put it into a 2 format, there were specific format requirements for 3 how the pricing people would look at rates and 4 contracts, and then she would just simply take it, 5 put it in a format, and send it to trade management, 6 and trade management would make the decisions on what would happen with the rates and that type of 8 9 thing. Was her compensation -- Rebecca Yang's, 10 was her compensation related to amount of sales? 11 12 Α No, zero. There was no commission aspect to it? 13 Α No. 14 How about yours? 15 Q 16 А Zero, none. What is your -- what's your current 17 Q position? 18 I'm senior vice president/chief commercial 19 Α officer, sales guy. 20 And do you work with Mitsui currently? 21 Q. 2.2 А Yes. 23 0 Are they an important client?

- 1 normally do with your own truckers.
- 2 So Home Depot might say we want you to use
- 3 AB Logistics, this is what the rate's going to be,
- 4 and we look and say, well, that's $100 a box more
- 5 expensive than what we normally do. In the case
- 6 of -- and that's what a lot of that dictation was
- 7 about, same thing with Michaels.
- 8 In the case of Global Link, they used
- 9 truckers that charged what our market rate was, so
- 10 it wasn't related to the -- the truck rate that --
- 11 the truck rate that we were paying at MOL to
- 12 their -- to truckers that they wanted us to use was
- 13 a market rate that we agreed to. Does that make
- 14 sense?
- 15 Q Yeah. So I understand, the trucking
- 16 portion was a pass-through cost for Mitsui, right?
- 17 MR. LOH: Objection to form.
- 18 THE WITNESS: Yes.
- 19 BY MR. COLLINS:
- 20 Q So it didn't really matter to you,
- 21 regardless, whether -- which trucker was being
- 22 used --
- MR. LOH: Objection to form.

- 1 A I don't know if there's a general way of
- 2 putting it. I mean, the most important -- I'll put
- 3 it this way: The most important factor was the
- 4 direct cost to the trucker and the railroad, and the
- 5 railroad. You know, we clearly, as a carrier, would
- 6 have a good handle on our expenses and costs to the
- 7 port, and then once it gets inland, you know, you've
- 8 got various things that impact that cost, but the
- 9 biggest factors would be the rail and the truck.
- 10 O And I think you indicated that the
- 11 trucking portion was a pass-through cost, from your
- 12 perspective?
- MR. LOH: Objection to form.
- 14 THE WITNESS: Yes.
- 15 BY MR. COLLINS:
- 16 Q So, for example, let's say the goods were
- 17 being shipped from China to the Bassett Furniture
- 18 store -- Bassett Furniture in Bassett, Virginia.
- 19 Assume that Bassett is nine miles away from
- 20 Martinsville, Virginia. Normally, would Mitsui
- 21 charge a different rate for Bassett than
- 22 Martinsville?
- 23 A That would depend on what the trucker

- 1 I'd say it's --
- 3 to interrupt.
- 4 A No problem.
- 5 Q So you're saying it's -- however it's
- 6 common rated by the trucker is going to set your
- 7 cost?
- 8 MR. LOH: Objection to form.
- 9 THE WITNESS: Yes. I mean, you know, the
- 10 trucker's going to come back and quote, and
- it's really -- it's going to be driven by what
- 12 they charge, and so that's what drives --
- that's one of the drivers, for sure.
- 14 BY MR. COLLINS:
- 15 Q So if you had a door point for
- 16 Martinsville, and it was actually going to Bassett,
- 17 you would not -- which is, let's assume, just --
- 18 it's nine miles away. You would assume that there
- 19 shouldn't be any significant difference in the
- 20 pricing as to those two deliveries?
- 21 A I would assume that.
- 22 Q And, in fact, if you were to say we're
- 23 going to charge you a significantly higher rate for

Page 91 someplace that's nine miles away, what would you 1 expect Mr. Briles's and Mr. Rosenberg's reaction to 2 3 that to be? MR. LOH: Objection to form, lack of 4 foundation, calls for speculation. THE WITNESS: They would have other options. BY MR. COLLINS: 9 Q They wouldn't -- they wouldn't accept the business if, in fact, you would charge --10 MR. LOH: Objection to form. 11 THE WITNESS: It would move with another 12 13 steamship line. 14 THE REPORTER: It would move -- I'm sorry. THE WITNESS: It would move with another 15 16 company, another steamship line. BY MR. COLLINS: 17 1.8 It would be fair to say that you or 19 Rebecca Yang would contact the administration --20 what's it called, truck -- what's the --21 Α Trade management? 22 Trade management, excuse me. Trade 23 management and say we can't charge different rates

Page 92 for something that's essentially the same delivery point. MR. LOH: Objection to form. 3 BY MR. COLLINS: Would that be fair to say? 5 MR. LOH: Objection to form, calls for 6 speculation. THE WITNESS: Yeah. I mean, it's -- the 8 rate is what it is, I mean, the truck rate is what it is, so whatever that rate is, that's 10 what would be rolled into the request for the 11 pricing. 12 13 BY MR. COLLINS: Would it be -- in your opinion, would it 14 be reasonable for Mitsui to come back years later 15 and say we're going to charge you a significantly 1.6 higher rate for delivery to Bassett, Virginia, than 17 Martinsville, Virginia? 18 MR. LOH: Objection to form, lack of 19 foundation, calls for speculation. 20 THE WITNESS: Say that again. 21 BY MR. COLLINS: 22 This case is essentially saying we're 23

- 1 A Yes.
- Q Okay. Which later become -- which later
- 3 became MOL (America). Is that correct?
- 4 A Yes.
- Okay. And Mitsui OSK Lines -- Mitsui OSK
- 6 Lines (America) Inc. is different than Mitsui OSK
- 7 Lines Limited. Isn't that correct?
- 8 A Yes.
- 9 Q Okay. Mr. Collins was asking you a lot of
- 10 questions about various exhibits relating to
- 11 something called a shipline document. Do you
- 12 remember those questions?
- 13 A Yes.
- Q Okay. Do you recall about how many
- 15 shipments -- how many boxes were being moved by
- 16 Mitsui for Global Link on a yearly basis during 2004
- 17 to 2007?
- 18 A No, but -- no, not exactly, but most years
- 19 were 20- to 40,000 TEUs.
- 20 Q So it's a lot?
- 21 A Oh, yeah.
- Q Okay. For the number of shipline bills of
- 23 lading -- or I'm sorry, the shipline delivery

- 1 moving a container away from the port or away from
- 2 the rail yard, you start incurring additional
- 3 expenses, and you start having to hire additional
- 4 people to manage that move, that coordination, avoid
- 5 the detention charges, demurrage charges, that type
- of thing, so that there's no doubt that -- and it
- 7 just -- it's become even more so today. I mean, the
- 8 carriers don't want door cargo. That's the bottom
- 9 line.
- 10 Q Would it be fair to characterize handling
- 11 an account on a door basis just requires a lot more
- 12 time, effort, and expenses on the part of a
- 13 steamship line to handle the overall account?
- 14 A Yes, for sure.
- 15 Q Looking back on the Global Link account,
- 16 based on what you understand the Global Link account
- 17 was or is, do you know if Mitsui made money on the
- 18 movement of the containers for that inland portion
- 19 in connection with the door deliveries that they
- 20 conducted?
- 21 A No, no. It would have been a -- it would
- 22 have been a pass-through. It would have been an
- 23 add-on or a pass-through based on what the trucking

- 1 charge would have been, so no.
- 2 Q So Mitsui -- as you understand it, Mitsui
- 3 really makes its money on the CY basis. The door
- 4 is -- the additional door service is being done to
- 5 accommodate its customers, and you don't really see
- 6 steamship companies like Mitsui making significant
- 7 money from that inland door movement. Is that fair
- 8 to say?
- 9 A No, I don't see them making -- I see them
- 10 losing money as a door move, no, just the opposite.
- 11 Q With respect to these thousands of
- 12 split-routed shipments that were being conducted by
- 13 Global Link, is it your opinion that Global Link
- 14 should have notified Mitsui that this was being
- 15 done?
- 16 A I'm not sure. I'd say -- I would say yes,
- 17 but -- yes.
- 18 Q And why do you -- why do you say that?
- 19 A You know, for -- I don't have a strong
- 20 opinion either way, I guess is really the way to put
- 21 it. The fact is they were making -- they were doing
- 22 that function of making those deliveries and
- 23 diverting those containers. The only reason why,

- 1 you know, they should have notified us was for bill
- 2 . of lading legitimate diversions to take place, and
- 3 that did not take place, so based on -- just based
- 4 on my opinion, we should have known because -- for
- 5 that reason alone.
- 6 Q Do you know if these thousands of
- 7 split-routings ever being conducted by Global Link,
- 8 do you have any understanding of whether or not that
- 9 was illegal or legal?
- 10 MR. COLLINS: Objection, calls for
- 11 speculation.
- MR. MANGER: Same objection.
- 13 THE WITNESS: I guess my opinion would be
- is that -- I've thought about -- actually, I've
- 15 thought about it quite a bit since then and
- trying to figure out whether it would be a
- violation or not, and looking at it from MOL's
- viewpoint, if MOL's issuing a transportation
- order with our trucker, with our contract with
- the trucker, with our interchange contract with
- the trucker, my opinion would be we've
- 22 satisfied our legal obligation, and we've done
- 23 what's right, and we've contracted that trucker

Page 267 to go to the door, to that particular bill of 1 lading destination. If then the customer does something with 3 it beyond that, I don't know what my opinion is on that, and I don't know -- you know, to me, 5 my instinct is initially is the trucker violated our contract with the trucker because we issued a transportation order to them to do X, and then they did something completely 9 different. It didn't cost the company any 10 money, but yet we had a contract with the 11 trucker. 12 So I guess the bottom line is it's a 13 pretty confusing topic. I'm not really quite 14 sure what to make of it. 15 16 BY MR. LOH: But you do think that Global Link should 17 have notified Mitsui about these split-routings, 18 19 correct? Yeah. I mean, that's part of the 20 operation, why they were doing it and -- yes, I 21 22 would agree with that. 23 And you would agree that they did not

- 1 Q So when you were describing the inland
- 2 movement, the inland portion of the movement that
- 3 Mitsui was providing for these door services, you
- 4 described it as basically a pass-through, correct?
- 5 A Yes.
- 6 O That Mitsui would just get reimbursed by
- 7 Global Link for whatever that particular amount was
- 8 supposed to be, correct?
- g A Right. They were issuing a transportation
- order based on the bill of lading and based on --
- 11 which would be the contract rate, and so
- 12 irregardless of where the container went, Global
- 13 Link was paying that amount of transportation cost,
- 14 and MOL was being reimbursed for that amount of
- 15 transportation cost in the full all-end rate.
- 16 The difference here is in this type of
- 17 situation, it's not that -- it's not that MOL is
- 18 losing particular money; it's they're out
- 19 opportunity money based on what the contract rate
- 20 was.
- 21 Q But it's real money, though, correct?
- 22 A Well, I guess if it was my company, I'd
- 23 look at it that way, sure.

- 1 Q Sure. It's real money. You know, you
- 2 can -- it's real money, right?
- 3 A Right.
- 4 Q Okay. So when you describe the inland
- 5 movement as simply a pass-through, it's not entirely
- 6 accurate in the sense that Global -- Mitsui was
- 7 paying more money for the trucking movement than it
- 8 really should have in connection with situations
- 9 that are similar to the ones set forth in 28, 29,
- 10 and 30, correct?
- 11 MR. COLLINS: Objection, lack of
- 12 foundation.
- 13 THE WITNESS: I look at it -- I would
- describe it as different, that there was --
- there were points in the contract -- let me put
- it a different way. There were points in the
- 17 contract covered in these situations that --
- where the cargo was finally destined that
- should have been booked to, my opinion, but the
- 20 same logic that created the rates to Johnson
- 21 City from the inland from the ramp should be
- 22 the same logic that's used to create the rate
- to Braselton.

1 Q So because we didn't fully appreciate the

2 split-routing that was being done, Mitsui lost, and

3 using your terms, opportunity money on these types

4 of shipments, correct?

5 A Potentially, but again, if a rate -- the 6 same logic that was used to create -- the same logic

7 that was used to create the Braselton rate should

8 have been used to create the Johnson City rate if

9 they were -- if they both came to the same CY and

10 originated at the same CY.

11 O Correct.

12 A The trucking charge is what it is.

13 Q Right.

14 A You know, so I'm not really --

15 Q But what if I -- what if I suggested to

16 you that Global Link was exploiting weaknesses in

17 the tariff or this service contract and was

18 specifically looking for locations that they could

19 take advantage of these distinctions and then book

20 the cargo accordingly so that they could maximize or

21 maybe reduce their costs, and thereby maximizing

22 their profit on a per-shipment basis? What if I

23 told you that? Would that change your opinion at

- 1 all?
- 2 A Well, it would have been -- it should have
- 3 been easier for them just to go ahead and file a
- 4 rate -- a new rate in the contract by issuing a PAR,
- 5 using the same logic that created the lower rate.
- 6 Q But they didn't do that, though?
- 7 A That's what's -- you know, the means --
- 8 they should have got -- they should have secured the
- 9 same net rate by going the -- by going the other
- 10 route and looking at and just creating a rate based
- on what the actual out-of-pocket was. I mean, if
- 12 this point was created -- you know, Braselton was
- 13 based on X amount per mile, then Johnson City should
- 14 have been based on X amount per mile. It should be
- 15 comp -- they should be comparable in net return for
- 16 MOL, because it's based on the CY rate as the net
- 17 return. They're not making money on the inland
- 18 portion of it.
- 19 Q I understand what you're saying, but
- 20 that's not what was done here, correct?
- 21 A This is so bizarre. I don't know.
- 22 Q And I'm going to represent to you that it
- 23 was done for thousands of shipments, right? I mean,

Paul,

We are having trouble getting actual delivery locations for containers being diverted from Martinsville, Va. If the broker does not want to tell us when we ask, I am going to start billing all the back diversion charges that we have found out about. What do you think?

This is a simple process, but they do not feel they need to tell us where the containers are going to be delivered. Basically, the b/l says one thing and the container goes to a different place. What happens when there is am accident? Who is responsible for the cargo?

Regards, Ted

Understood Christine.

I spoke to Jim and we are following up to provide CY rates. I should have them next week.

Thanks.

Subject: RE: Cy rates

Paul: although you explained to us the challenges you have internally at MOL regarding the change in methodology to CY moves vs. the split door service MOL has historically provided, we haven't been advised of any change.

We've waited as long as we possibly can. Therefore, I have advised both Jim and Molly that we must discontinue supporting MOL on the split moves as we do not have MOL CY rates in place that will allow us to arrange our own trucking. This instruction has been given with immediate effect.

If MOL can offer the CY rate at a level that will allow us to use your services (i.e. the CY rates plus our trucking costs results in our being market competitive) we will continue to support MOL on a CY basis.

Please call if you have any questions.
